

GEA — THE GIRL WHO HAS IT ALL!

TEEENAGE MARVEL Gea Johnson lives the words of the beer commercial that proclaims: "You can have it all."

Amazing Gea was voted the outstanding scholar-athlete in the U.S. for 1985. She is one of the top young track and field athletes in the country, excelling at hurdles, long-jump, shotput and javelin. The statuesque, 18-year-old blonde also won the inaugural Miss National Fitness Contest in Las Vegas last year.

And she's every bit as brilliant in the classroom. She's never had a grade less than A in any exam. She was the homecoming queen at her school in Phoenix, Arizona, and president of her senior class.

Water — razor sharp and deadly accurate

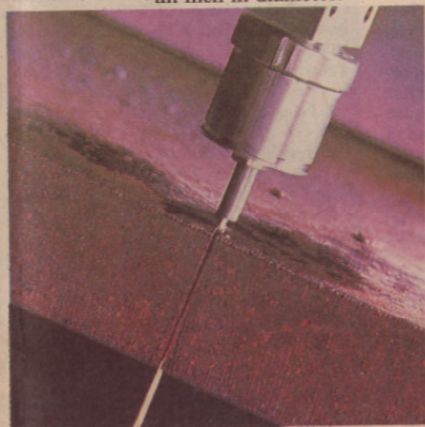

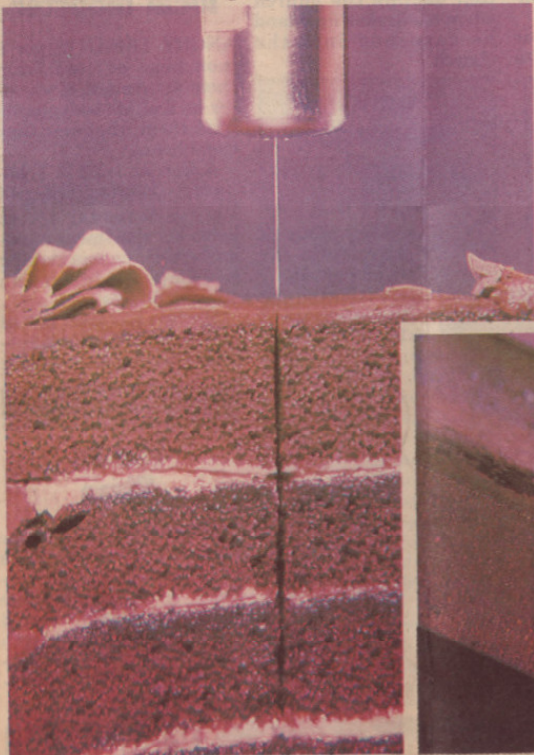

IT CAN slice through solid rock and slash its way through bulletproof glass, thick slabs of steel and even armor plating.

What is this cutting wonder that out-performs metal blades? Believe it or not — it's water! Water is the new cutting edge of technology. Surgeons can use it for delicate bone surgery, and it is gentle enough to slice a cake more neatly than a knife. It will also cut candy bars and fish filets — and even slice pizza.

What gives water these awesome powers? Enormous pressure, 55,000 pounds per square inch in some types of cutting. That's more than 1,000 times the city water pressure.

The water is delivered through a hair-thin tiny nozzle only five thousandths of an inch in diameter.

BEAUTIFUL Gea Johnson: Voted outstanding scholar-athlete in the United States.
